ITUH USED BTECH-08-06-2019

R16

Code No: 131AJ

JAWAHARLAL NEHRU TECHNOLOGICAL UNIVERSITY HYDERABAD
B.Tech I Year I Semester Examinations, May/June - 2019
PROFESSIONAL COMMUNICATION IN ENGLISH
(Common to EEE, ECE, CSE, IT)

Time: 3 hours Max. Marks: 75

Note: This question paper contains two parts A and B.
Part A is compulsory which carries 25 marks. Answer all questions in Part A. Part B consists of 5 Units. Answer any one full question from each unit. Each question carries 10 marks and may have a, b, c as sub questions.

PART- A

(25 Marks)

1.a) Give the meaning of the suffix 'cracy' and use it in a sentence. [2]
b) Complete the sentences with correct prepositions: [3]
i) The drinks are _____ the table.
ii) One woman is standing _____ the table.
iii) _____ is a man who is barbecuing.
c) Despite the emphasis on software, however, Nadella said Microsoft's hardware "will set the bar for productivity experiences,". What is the meaning of the phrase 'set the bar' explain and make a contextual sentence using the phrase. [2]
d) Explain the phrase "I took the one less traveled by, and that has made all the difference" taken from Robert Frost's 'Road not taken'. [3]
e) Use the confusables 'then' and 'than' giving examples for each. [2]
f) Differentiate between future continuous tense and past perfect tense with an example for each tense forms. [3]
g) Explain briefly why does J.C.Hill state that 'A man with pleasing manners respects the feelings and sentiments of others around him' [2]
h) Explain the following verses "If you can wait and not be tired by waiting or being lied about, don't deal in lies". [3]
i) Why does Rahul say that it doesn't matter to him why the Newton's apple does not fall nor does he care about what Archimedes did? [2]
j) What are study skills and how do they help learning better. Explain in brief. [3]

PART - B

(50 Marks)

2.a) Why do you think Dr. A.P.J. Abdul Kalam stands as an epitome of vision and wisdom in making a better India.
b) Punctuate the following paragraph with full stops, commas, capital letters, etc.

the revolution in computer technology has been going on since about forty years in the first generation during the second world war computers employed vacuum tubes and relays as switching Devices the collection of switches routed electrical currents in a manner that produced calculated results as a matter of fact all digital computers today still perform calculations using switching techniques.

in the second generation started in the late 1950s tubes and relays were replaced by Transistors. transistors were faster cheaper smaller required less energy and produced less heat then tubes

c) Write a paragraph on 'the use of e-seva center in the society'. [3+3+4]

OR

ITUH USED BTECH-08-06-2019

3.a) Read the text below and summarize it in about 100 words.

The fossil remains of the first flying vertebrates, the pterosaurs, have intrigued paleontologists for more than two centuries. How such large creatures, which weighed in some cases as much as a piloted hangglider and had wingspans from 8 to 12 meters, solved the problems of powered flight, and exactly what these creatures were- reptiles or birds- are among the questions scientist have puzzled over. Perhaps the least controversial. The anatomy of their wings suggests that they did not evolve into the class of birds. In pterosaurs a greatly elongated fourth finger of each forelimb supported a wing like membrane. The other fingers were short and reptilian, with sharp claws, In birds the second finger is the principle strut of the wing, which consists primarily of features. If the pterosaur walked or remained stationary, the fourth finger, and with it the wing, could only turn upward in an extended inverted V-shape along side of the animal's body. The pterosaurs resembled both birds and bats in their overall structure and proportions. This is not surprising because the design of any flying vertebrate is subject to aerodynamic constraints. Both the pterosaurs and the birds have hollow bones, a feature that represents a saving in weight. In the birds, however, these bones are reinforced more massively by internal struts.

Although scales typically cover reptiles, the pterosaurs probably had hairy coats. T.H. Huxley reasoned that flying vertebrates must have been warm – blooded because flying implies a high internal temperature. Huxley speculated that a coat of hair would insulate against loss of body heat and might streamline the body to reduce drag in flight. The recent discovery of a pterosaur specimen covered in long, dense, and relatively thick hair like fossil material was the first clear evidenced that his reasoning was correct. Efforts to explain how the pterosaurs became air-borne have led to suggestions that they launched themselves by jumping from cliffs, by dropping from trees, or even by rising into light winds from the crests of waves. Each hypothesis has its difficulties. The first wrongly assumes that the pterosaur's hind feet resembled a bat's and could served as hooks by which the animal could hang in preparation for flight. The second hypothesis seems unlikely because large pterosaurs could not have landed in trees without damaging their wings. The birds calls for high waves to channels updrafts. The wind that made such waves however, might have been too strong for the pterosaurs to control their flight once airborne.

b) What is the structure of writing a good paragraph?

c) Decide which parts of speech are the underlined words

While one engineer may refuse to certify the project on moral grounds, the business may find a less scrupulous engineer who will be prepared to certify the project for a bribe, thus saving the business the expense of redesigning. [4+3+3]

4.a) Satya Nadella's letter states that Microsoft "defines [mobile] by experiences" and promises that the Windows developer "will be on the forefront of this innovation with a particular focus on dual users and their needs across work and life."

b) Summarise the gist of the poem 'Road not taken' and relate it to the contemporary context.

c) For each of the words tick the word or phrase that gives its meaning.

i) Retrospect

A) blissful	B) advancement	C) look back	D) advance

ii) Malignant

A) healed	B) wicked	C) precious	D) stubborn

iii) Constructive

A) encouraging	B) dutiful	C) immoral	D) pacifying

[4+3+3]

OR

5.a) What is the difference between semi block style and complete block style in writing formal letters?

b) Write a letter of apology with suitable reply.

c) What is the difference between transitive and intransitive verbs? Explain citing examples for each. [3+4+3]

6.a) Write an e-mail to the CEO of Symbiosis highlighting your credentials to seek a job in his company? (Assume relevant data).

b) i) He will leave her in the orphanage (change into passive voice).

ii) What is the superlative form of the adjective 'beautiful'?

c) Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow.

At the time Jane Austen's novels were published – between 1811 and 1818 – English literature was not part of any academic curriculum. In addition, fiction was under strenuous attack. Certain religious and political groups felt novels had the power to make so called immoral characters so interesting young readers would identify with them; these groups also considered novels to be of little practical use. Even Coleridge, certainly no literary reactionary, spoke for many when he asserted that "novel-reading occasions the destruction of the mind's power. These attitudes towards novels help explain why Austen received little attention from early nineteenth century literary critics. (In any case, a novelist published anonymously, as Austin was, would not be likely to receive much critical attention). The literary response that was accorded her, however, was often as incisive as twentieth century criticism. In his attack in 1816 on novelistic portrayals "outside of ordinary experience, "for example, Scott made an insightful remark about the merits of Austen's fiction. Her novels, wrote Scott, "present to the reader an accurate and exact. picture of ordinary everyday people and places, reminiscent of seventeenth –century Flemish painting". Scott did not use the word "realistic probability in judging novels. The critic Whitely did not use the word realism either, but he expressed agreement with Scott's evaluation, and went on to suggest the possibilities for moral instruction in what we have called Austen's realistic method. Her characters, wrote Whitely, are persuasive agents for moral truth since they are ordinary persons" so clearly evoked that was feel.....an interest in their fate as if it were our own Moral instruction, explained Whitely, is more likely to be effective when conveyed through recognizably human and interesting characters then when imparted by a sermonizing narrator. Whitely especially praised Austen's ability to create characters who "mingle goodness and villainy, weakness and virtue, as in life they are always mingled. "Whitely concluded his remarks by comparing Austen's art of characterization to Sicken's, stating his preference for Austin's. Often anticipated the reservations of twentieth-century critics. An example of such a response was Lewes' complaint in 1859 that Austen's range of subjects and characters was too narrow. Praising her verisimilitude, Lewes added that nonetheless her focus was too often upon only the unlofty and the common place. (Twentieth-century Marxists, on the other hand, were to complain about what they saw as her exclusive emphasis on a lofty upper-middle class) in any case, having been rescued by some literary critics from neglect and indeed gradually lionized by them, Austen's steadily reached, by the mid-nineteenth century, the enviable pinnacle of being considered controversial.

ITUH USED BTECH-08-06-2019

i) The primary purpose of the passage is to

1) demonstrate the nineteenth-century preference for realistic novels rather than romantic ones.

2) explain why Jane Austen's novels were not included in any academic curriculum in the early nineteenth century

3) Urge a reassessment of Jane Austen's novels by twentieth-century literary critics

4) Describe some of the responses of nineteenth – century critics told Jane Austen's novels as well as to fiction in general

5) Argue that realistic character portrayal is the novelist's most difficult task as well as the aspect of novel most likely to elicit critical response.

ii) The passage supports and answers which of the following questions?

1) Was Whitely aware of Scott's remarks about Jane Austen's novels?

2) Who is an example of a twentieth-century Marxist critic?

3) Who is an example of twentieth-century critic who admired Jane Austen's novels?

4) What is the author's judgment of Dickens?

5) Did Jane Austen's express her opinion of those nineteenth-century critics who admired her novels.

iii) The author mentions that English literature "was not part of any academic curriculum" in the early nineteenth century in order to:

1) emphasize the need for Jane Austen to increate ordinary, everyday character in her novels.

2) give support to those religious and political groups that had attacked fiction

3) give one reason why Jane Austen's novels received little critical attention in the early nineteenth century.

4) Suggest the superiority of an informal and un systematized approach to the study of literature

5) contrast nineteenth-century attitudes towards English literature with those towards classical literature

iv) Why was the literary response that was accorded to Jane Austen often considered as incisive as twentieth century criticism? Explain in a line or two.

v) The author quotes Coleridge in order to

1) refute the literary opinions of certain religious and political groups

2) make a case for the inferiority of novels to poetry

3) give an example of a writer who was not a literary reactionary

4) illustrate the early nineteenth-century belief that fiction was especially appealing to young readers

5) Indicate how widespread was the attack on novels in the early nineteenth century.

[3+2+5]

OR

7. Black Ho Limited, a software company, is looking for interns to work in its branches at Mumbai and Trivandrum. Students pursuing engineering in any branch can apply for internship. Short listing is done on the basis of resume.

a) Write a cover letter based on the above situation.

b) Prepare a resume. Assume relevant data.

c) Write a letter requesting the Director of the institute to provide efficient wi-fi internet connectivity on the campus, highlighting its need for studies. [2+4+4]

ITUH UCEB BTECH-08-06-2019

ITUH USED BTECH-08-06-2019

8.a) Given below is a diagram about organizational structure of an Educational Institute. Write a paragraph using the information it represents.

DIRECTOR
↓
REGISTRAR
↓
DEANS
↓
ASSOCIATE DEANS
↓
HEADS
↓
FACULTY

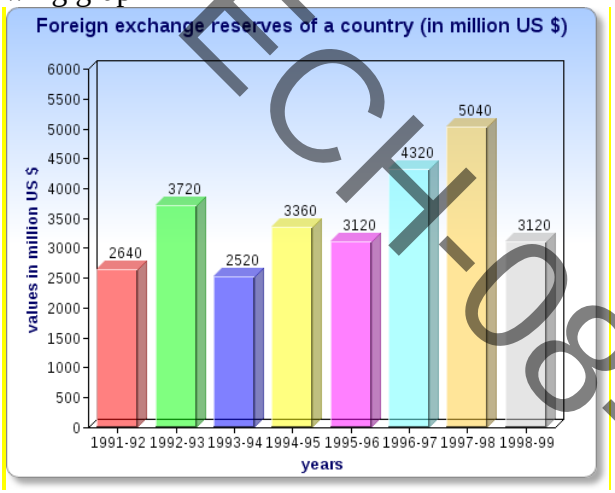

b) Interpret the following lines taken from the poem 'IF'

If you can talk with crowds and keep your virtue,
Or walk with Kings - nor lose the common touch,

c) i) Give the meaning of the idiom 'apple of discord' and use it in a meaningful sentence.
ii) Give the meaning of the idiom 'a pain in the neck' and use it in a meaningful sentence. [5+3+2]

OR

9.a) Interpret the following graph

b) i) The men are national beings. (Correct the sentence)
ii) Either October ------ November ------ a good vacation month (fill in the blank with suitable form of verb/conjunction that agrees with the subject)
iii) I have a good news for you. (Correct the sentence)

c) i) Choose the correct one word substitute for the phrase 'a person who speaks less'
A) Reticent B) Adamant C) Simple D) Modest
ii) Choose the correct one word substitute for the phrase 'killing one's own father'
A) Matricide B) Patricide C) Suicide D) Genocide
iii) Aristocracy is the rule by ---------- [4+3+3]

10.a) Fill in the blanks with a suitable tag for the sentences given
i) Alam likes skiing _____ ?
ii) They are going to the fair this Sunday _____?
iii) 'You must write neatly,' the teacher told her pupils. (Change into indirect speech)

b) Imagine you organise a Three Day International Conference at your institute. Draft the highlights of the inaugural of the conference and prepare a report of the same. Assume relevant data. [7+3]

OR

11.a) Given below is a set of points. Write two coherent paragraphs using these points.

Non-renewable energy sources ..... that drain fossil reserves deposited over centuries. This results in depletion..... There are many countries, which have recorded ..... reduction of these sources and are currently..... from the side effects of drilling these energy reserves .....

b) Given below are the three statements from a paragraph which are not in the right order. Arrange them so that the passage is coherent and mention the right order e.g., a,b,c.

i) In the 20th century, economist Joseph Schumpeter (1883-1950) focused on how the entrepreneur's drive for innovation and improvement creates upheaval and change.

ii) The concept of entrepreneurship was first established in the 1700s, and the meaning has evolved ever since. Many simply equate it with starting one's own business. Most economists believe it is more than that.

iii) To some economists, the entrepreneur is one who is willing to bear the risk of a new venture if there is a significant chance for profit. Others emphasize the entrepreneur's role as an innovator who markets his innovation. [5+5]

---ooOoo---

ITUH USED BTECH-08-06-2019